GEORGE WILSON'S

Improved Bath for Sheep,

On sale at JOHN EASTMAN and SON'S (Sole Agents) Druggist Store, DEFENSA Nos. 9 & 11.

This newly imported preparation, declared by judges and sheep-farmers in England and Australia to be practically the "non plus ultra" among the numberless inventions for this purpose, destroys in less than half an hour all kinds of vermin to which sheep are subjected—rendering the wool beautifully white—nourishing and increasing the growth of the same considerably more than those pernicious corrosive poisons, so generally applied—and costing not more than one half of any other bath now in use.

Important Sale.

For sale, in the Partido de Ajó, ht about six leagues from the port, an Estancia consisting of half a square league of excellent camp with houses, corrales, alfalfa fields, potreros, &c., all in good working order. The stock consists of about 6,000 prime sheep and 500 head of cattle, principally tame milch cows. The sheep may be purchased or not at buyer's option. The facilities which the position of this estancia offer for shipment of produce and the low rate of freight, being only 5½ paper dollars per arrobe of wool, added to the excellent quality of the land renders this a rare and valuable opportunity for any person wishing to enter into the business of sheep-farming.

LONDON SOCIETY:

THE MIRROR OF ENGLISH LIFE.

The six volumes of this extraordinary work show at a glance to what it owes its singular success in England. Written by the most brilliant littérateurs of London, and with nearly 500 exquisite illustrations by the first artists of the day, they present the most curious and interesting collection ever drawn together of tales, sketches, and humorous descriptions, representing not only the strange and varied phases of London life, but of Modern English Society, whether considered in its in-door or out-door aspect—in its festal or domestic character. From the court of St. James's to the waifs and strays of our civilization, all ranks and classes are depicted, at work or at play—in mirth or in sadness.

No other series of volumes in our language presents so much in the form of light and amusing literature for the hours of relaxation—none which so brings out the grace and glory of English life by matchless delineations of its youth and beauty. It is unique in English literature, and the possessor of a set of London Society holds a sovereign charm against hours of ennui.

TUESDAY, AUGUST 8, 1865.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

Within the memory of the oldest inhabitant of Buenos Ayres, there never before was such a Sunday as last. It rained and blew as if Æolus was a Paraguayan and determined to vent his wrath on Porteños. Out in the camp the storm was equally severe, and in the river nearly all the small boats near the Mole were blown out to the outer roads. We fear that on the estancias it must have done damage, such as mixing the flocks, &c. Yesterday the rain left us, but the 'pampero' remained. A cold, piercing wind swept the streets, top-coats and mufflers were called into requisition.

The great news of the day is the alarming state of affairs in the Banda Oriental. Admiral Tamandare sent a gunboat down on Saturday night to Montevideo to keep guard; and our colleague, the 'Tribuna,' states semi-officially that the Nitheroy and Recife, with 2,000 men, will soon follow if required. It appears that the camp is full of 'montoneras' and the chiefs are only waiting the advance of the Paraguayans to pronounce boldly.

An English estanciero from Entre Rios visited us yesterday. He says that the runaway Basualdo soldiers are doing great damage, many of them have not returned to their homes, simply because they have no homes to go to They are prowling through the province 'carnearing' and stealing horses.

The 15th instant is, we learn, the day appointed by the contractors for the opening of the Southern Railway. Until the line is fully completed, however, there will be no public inauguration.

Our talented friend, Mr. Rom, has vacated the editorial chair of the 'Eco del Comercio,' and Dr. Carriego has taken his place. Mr. Rom, however, still preserves his interest in the paper-but limits himself to the financial and commercial department. We salute the new editor on his taking his seat in the newspaper omnibus. Mr. Carriego, as the editor of the 'Litoral,' in Parana, has given sufficient proof of his power and ability as a public writer

Yesterday was the twelfth birthday of our great colleague, the 'Tribuna,' We salute Messrs. Varela and Cassafouth on on the occasion, and wish them all and many happy returns of the day. Their paper has the largest circulation of any journal in Buenos Ayres, and the editors prove they merit this great patronage by their exertions to have all the latest news each morning in their columns.

The Provincial Government has introduced a law into the Chambers, giving to each of the Buenos Ayres National Guards who fight in the present war a small chacra or farm; the idea is a good one, and we are pleased to see the Government adopt our suggestion on the matter, but four or five acres of land out on the forntier what use are they. Government ought to be more liberal and give to every ten soldiers a square league of land, this would be a property, and enable the soldiers when the war is over to become independent sheep-farmers. We hope therefore to see an amendment introduced and some inducement held out to the poor fellows who have to leave their country to fight the Paraguayans.

After all the principal gunner in the battle of the Riachuelo was the Pilot, Bernardino, who has received from the Emperor a present of five hundred ounces and the pay of Col. for life; this Bernardino is without doubt the luckiest pilot in South America.

There is an awful row out in the camp owing to the orders of the Commandante compelling the Maestros de Posta, Postillions and even Tenientes to serve. Such a thing was never before they say, and the law specially exempts them, young Teniente Alcaldes are now everywhere cited and old men appointed in their stead; enlisiting is the order of day all over the camp as troops are required for the frontier and for Corrientes.

To-day the Espigador is due from Goya, it is thought she will bring news of the greatest importance, and we hope to see a full attendance on the mole.

Mr. Isaac, the war correspondent of the 'Eco del Comercio,' states that there was a grand ball given the other night at Concordia, which terminated in a row; pistols and knives were drawn, owing to some insulting remarks by some Entre Rianos,

Last week some of the police were bringing into town some deserters. One of them escaped by jumping out of a carriage on the Southern Railway, when the train was almost in full motion. The man has got a severe fall, and has not since been heard of.

The Provincial Senate has approved of the law authorising the Board to open branches in the various small towns in the camp. We suppose, therefore, shortly the number of branch banks will be greatly increased.

The Amateur Dramatic Society of Montevideo will shortly give a performance, we hope our Shakesperian friends will duly notify us of the when and where so as that we can give sufficient notice to all friends of the drama here.

The attacks on the Cordovese Government still continue in mostly all the papers, we certainly think it a most unwise time for such recriminations; if the Government of Cordova cannot get up this contingent owing to the great desire of all the Cordoveses to remain at home he is not so much to blame, as his Government is weak and his power extremely limited.

POSTAL TREATIES.

The 'Nacion Argentina' of Sunday contains on article on this subject with the following important revelations:

1st. That the Congress ratified, with closed doors, the Postal Convention between the Argentine Republic and Montevideo, when there was no necessity for a secret session.

2nd. That this Convention is similar to those concluded with Chile and Bolivia, having for object to remove "many impediments to correspondence which at present are found to exist."

3rd. That the English and French packets arrive in our port 'at 5 or 6 o'clock in the morning,' and letters are not sorted till '10 hours later' notwithstanding the activity of the clerks and aptitude of Sor. Posadas for the post he occupies.

4th. That we must seek the desideratum in post-office affairs of making a letter pay postage only once, and go from pole to pole without additional charge for conveyance.

In answer to the first we only say one word—Amen.

As to the second we are happy to state that through our neighbor the Correo we are enabled to send our letters and papers to Montevideo, without travelling a mile from our office to the English or French postal agencies.

Respecting the third revelation, of the English and French packets arriving at 5 or 6 in the morning we must insinuate that our colleague uses a figure of metaphor; for our office being next to the Correo we can testify that the English mail bags never arrive at the Post-Office before 9 or 10 a. m. and the French usually still later, not to speak of the June mails which arrived at 4.30 p. m.

And who is to blame for this? Various casualties of navigation, and in particular the fact that a city like Buenos Ayres (the Athens of S. America) has no port, but only a roadstead of difficult access, which often causes a delay of two or three hours in bringing the mails ashore to the wharf, according to wind and tide. Moreover, as soon as the mail bags reach the Correo the sorting begins by separating the correspondence for the other towns of the Republic, since it often happens the Provincial mails are despatched same day.

In a quarter of an hour after the arrival of the mails the Registered Letters are delivered by the Post-Master-General in person, and soon after commences the delivery of newspapers at the Francatura office, as our colleague must know, so that the delay of 10 hours to which he alludes we are inclined to regard as a typographical error.

As to the desideratum of making letters pay postage only once, we fear the idea is both difficult and fantastic, since every man ought to be paid for his work, and in every country postal-charges are regulated by its own tariff. Let us see, how much time would be gained if the letters from Europe were delivered gratis? At most one hour, since the clerks would still have to sort them among subscribers' boxes, bags for street-delivery, provincial mails, and official correspondence [which is usually voluminous]. Thus the public might gain at most an hour in the earlier distribution of letters, but the Government would lose the fair renumeration for the work of its employees.

We turn with satisfaction to the 'Annarios de Correo' published by Sr. Posadas and find he says "that the General Post-Office receives and despatches mails in transitu (that is, from neighboring Republics for Europe, or vice-versa) without any retribution or charge whatever, as agreed on by Postal-treaties with England and France."

He says also "it would be well to establish the rule in all Postal arrangements with these Republics, that each country should charge postage on its own letters." All this is very clear and reasonable, but what baffles our comprehension is—the new method proposed by the 'Nacion Arjentina' touching letters from Europe—unless it be by means of carrier-pigeons, which still would come to cost the Government more, in as much as we pay no subsidy to the English or French mail steamers.

Frankly, we believe the General Post-Office, taking into account its present unsuitable premises, answers the public convenience as for as possible. It must be borne in mind that the correspondence of Buenos Ayres is greater than that of Rio Janeyro or Madrid, and yet we have only 9 clerks to sort 12,000 letters and 15,000 packages of news-papers which arrive monthly by the English and French packets from Europe, and only 6 letter-carriers to distribute them through town: it is really wonderful how so much work is got through every day in the year with a few ill-paid clerks, for Congress has not yet raised the salaries of these useful employees.

The public is not aware of the number of clerks in the Rio Janeiro Post-office employed to sort the letters by the English and French mails They are over Eighty in number and take 24 hours before beginning to despatch the letters, besides having 53 letter-carriers. In Madrid there is no fixed number of post-office employees, but in 1863 they exceeded 200 in number.

From these items it will be seen we do not exaggerate in stating the improvements in our Correo, and its great efficiency under Sor Posadas.

PARTIDO OF CANUELAS.

JUDGE'S REPORT FOR 1864.

The Partido of Canuelas may be called an English county, such is the number, extent, and importance of our countrymen in this district. Although probably one of the oldest sheep-raising districts, it is neither over-stocked nor exhausted, which speaks much for the nature of the camps and the estancias.as The town of Canuelas formerly boasted of a good English store, but Mr. Griffin, the proprietor, a few years ago retired from business and retreated to his estancia. The Judge's report for the past year lies on our table; beyond the few figures which it gives of the taxes collected and spent, we hardly find anything else in it, but as even it is fortunate to get these miserable items from some of the camp authorities, we hasten to give in English what Mr. Inocencio S. Fuentes has hastily put together in Spanish.

The total Municipal receipts for the year 1864 amount to $81,325, which is a very respectable sum for so small a place, and we are pleased to see how easy the money market in Canuelas is, when last year there was a surplus in the Municipal cash box of $30,564; but Canuelas is now a go-a-head place, and the receipts this year, it is feared, will fall so far short of the expenditure, that there is an indirect hint as to the necessity of a loan.

The new church seems to have the same bad luck as the Concepcion Church in Buenos Ayres. It was commenced in 1863; but just as the walls were completed, down tumbled the structure, which caused such an alarm in the town, that for over a year no one could be induced to rebuild it, until Mr. Hunt, the renowned architect, reported on the foundations. The edifice is now nearly finished, but still there much to be done. We hope, however, that before 1865 expires, this splendid church will be completely finished. A small brick house, with zinc roof, has been built in the cemetery for the keeper. [In San Pedro we remember the keeper of the cemetery lived in one of the vaults and slept in an old coffin!] The parish priest's house has also been repaired, the Municipal meeting-house, the boys' school-house, and the cabin for the caretaker of the public 'corral' or pound, have all been improved and repaired.

A very excellent chain has been put round the plaza, and as most of the estancieros drive in their carriages, it was found necessary to fill up all the 'pantanos' in one of the streets at least leading up to the square.

There was some little spare cash put aside for the purpose of building a proper town school-house, but the tumbling down of the church soon swamped the exchequer, and now, although the ground is ready, there is no cash to begin the work.

The townspeople complain that there is no public Municipal house for the Justice of the Peace, and the house the 'cura' occupies' is a disgraceful 'rancho.' Neither is there a public prison: all these establishments, on a proper scale, are required and at once.

The police force consists of 12 'individuals' and 1 sergeant, quite sufficient for so moral and orderly a town as Canuelas.

As to the sales of Municipal lands, two 'chacras' of 400 by 400 yards each, and a few 'quintas,' have been sold, but the price is not specified. There are several other magnificent farms for sale, but the present occupiers are rather hard up for cash at present.

As there has been no measurement, the precise limits of the town are not well-known, but that is regarded as immaterial; but from the free and easy language of the report before us, we should not be surprised if our friend, Mr. M'Clymont, who possesses a magnificent estate close up to the town, should some of these fine days find the Municipality out on his grounds marking out new 'chacras.' We perceive that the rent of the 'chacras' amounts to the very handsome sum of $19,500, but the 'patentes' reach the colossal figure of $35,000; sheep señales are only $4,400; Contribucion Directa, $5,528, and fines the magnificent item of $430, which is smaller than those of any previous partido.

The disbursements of the public money present only one or two strange items. Tables and chairs for the Municipality, $1,855; expenses attending watching prisoners sent into the town, so that they do not escape, $2,059; and celebration of public feasts, $7,277, which seems to us as extravagant. The sum spent on finishing the new church is put down at $63,165, a mere trifle.

Cash on hand at the close of the year only $3,077.

We perceive that the Sergeant Casey of the police force received a present of $130, but it is not stated for what, but we suppose some very meritorious act. A careful perusal of the Municipal edicts attached to the report persuades us that no Rural Code is required in this partido.

Animals found trespassing on an estancia are to be at once locked up. Mercachifles caught going about the camp without a license, to be at once made soldiers of the line, and no man allowed to make a ditch round his property in the town.

Cañuelas has more reason to boast of her estancieros than her judicial luminaries. The present report is but a lame excuse for the judge. We hope to see him improve on it this year, and not keep from the public the real statistics of his district which are so interesting and necessary for the Government and the public.

NEWS FROM THE SOUTH.

ENGLISH INVASION OF VECINO.

INTERESTING SHEEP ITEMS.

Dolores, Aug. 3, 1865.

Although only some ten years in this country, I believe I have seen more of the province than most of your subscribers. I am begining to think that every foreigner in the country should regularly correspond with the 'Standard,' so that all newly arrived countrymen may profit by our experience, and the greater the fund of useful information to be found in the columns of a newspaper the better both for the editor and the subscribers. I hope therefore that English sheep-farmers will begin to see that it is their own interest to write constantly and truthfully to the 'Standard.' Noticing in the columns of your weekly edition many remarks in the southern parts of this province, and great inducements held out to go to Vecino, I think it right to send you some reliable information about that locality.

Vecino is not so well adapted for sheep-breeding as is supposed; the land is low, the grass hard and interspersed with 'paja' or long coarse grass which while it affords shelter for sheep in bad weather, also is the means of constant loss for sheep in bad weather; also is the means of constant loss in lambing seasons. The partido has been so invaded by Englishmen who at the very first glance at a piece of ground, provided there is a house and corral on it, immediately close a bargain, that the lands have gone up in value. I remember in the year 1856, only nine years ago, land could be bought at the Vecino for $40,000 per square league. Now the ordnary price asked is ten times that, say $400,000. Owing to the great distance of these lands from Buenos Ayres and the inferior character of the grass, I have no hesitation in saying that lands in more convenient localities such as Magdalena, Chascomus and Ranchos are cheaper in $800,000 m|c per square league than those of the Vecino at $300,000. My advice to my countrymen is always generally speaking all great bargains to rent rather than buy land starting; as made during the first few months after arrival prove ultimately to be quite the reverse.

There are some splendid lands in the western partidos which I believe are far preferable to those in the south, and as the railway to Chivilcoy will shortly be opened, I think that the 25 de Mayo lands are worth visiting.

Sheep-farming is by no means so lucrative as is represented: wages to servants so high, rents so exorbitant, and even groceries &c. so expensive that the yield of a flock of sheep will now-a-days barely do more than support the farmer and his family.

From Buenos Ayres to the Salado, I think I may truthfully say there is not an unoccupied piece of land to be found, and even for several leagues on the south of the salado, every inch of ground is marked out and occupied It is therefore useless for any Englishmen to be making expensive excursions to any of the country towns inside of the Salado, and yet if they go much further out they encounter lands more suitable for cattle than sheep. Therefore I would impress on all that although outside camps look very tempting and to be got at a comparatively cheap price or low rent, they have so many and serious disadvantages that even at the rate of $300,000 per square league, they are not to say cheap.

In the partido of Chascomus the lands are becoming so greatly overstocked that if after next shearing at least a hundred thousand sheep arenot removed, the pastures will be exhausted and there will be a repetition of what is termed the "epidemic." In Ranchos the estancia lands are not so good and by no means able to supportas many sheep as in the other Partido: many of the estancias even in my time had twice the number of sheep on them that they have at present, still there is no land to be got in this partido. In Magdalena the increase of flocks this year exceeds even that of Chascomus, and on almost every estancia in that partido there are sheep for sale.

In Dolores, during the last two or three months, cattle has been coming in from outside, that is to say from the South, and many estancias which but for this would have had room for several sheep puestos are now thickly stocked; sheep in the partido of Dolores are more looked for than elsewhere to the South, but even the very best buyers have no money and although they are perfectly solvent, are obliged to ask for long credit. A shopkeeper (Basque) in Dolores, I am told, has recently purchased ten thousand sheep, good mestiza, for $26 each, unmarked lambs not counted, and on one years credit, the rams, some of which are of Hannah's and Harratt's far-famed breeds counting the same as sheep.

There are several estancias for sale in this district that can be bought from the owners cheap, for cash, but if they get into the hands of the brokers they will of course double the price. Young men who want a start in life can obtain sheep on thirds very easily on the native estancias in this district but they must be recommended and above all teetotallers. I will write again next week: the enthusiasm which you speak of for the present war may exist elsewhere, but is unknown in and about Dolores.

PASTOR.

THE COMMONERS OF PARAGUAY.

(BY J. M. ESTRADA.)

Under this heading we have an historical essay, of recent publication, on one of the most important periods in Paraguayan history (1717-1735), shortly preceding the expulsion of the Jesuits. The author has brought much research and discrimination to bear upon his subject, and enriched Argentine literature with what we may term a Prize Essay, whether we consider the copious and graceful style, the clear forms of reasoning, or the really beautiful reflections that adorn every page like the illuminated embellishments of ancient manuscript.

Sor Estrada is very fond of metaphysical theories, and the 1st chapter is so much resembling an abstract preface of the matter of his book, that we advise the general reader to omit it altogether And here we may observe that the only fault we find with the Essay is its great diffuseness; devoting 200 pages to a small interval of 18 years; yet although the work would be more interesting in half the space, it would be difficult to point out where to prune, so neatly arranged are the ornaments of sentiment or expression, which shew no less the labor devoted in the task than the refined taste of the author.

The quarrels between Gov. Antequera and the Jesuits are familiar to all who have read the history of Paraguay, but the rise and fall of the 'Comuneros' is little known. Beginning with the Government of Don Diego Reyes, who was a friend of the Jesuits, the first germs of Republicanism in S. America are found in the faction, which arrays itself against the Fathers and the Spanish crown, and after a turbulent and short-lived supremacy in the remote Colony is at length crushed out by the Vice-roy Zavala of Buenos Ayres, in 1735.

Governor Reyes was deposed by the Real Audiencia on soveral absurd charges raised by his enemies, and the famous Antequera named as his successor. This man seems to have aimed at establishing independent authority to counteract the influence of the Jesuits who made common cause with the Crown. After repeated disobedience to superior mandates and some campaigns against the allied forces of Buenos Ayres and Misiones, he was at length subdued and sent prisoner to Lima. There he met in prison a youth named Mompo, who possessed all the talents of a Rienzi; and the latter contriving to escape to Asungion raised the standard of Democracy.

Antequera was beheaded, at Lima, for a traitor, and Mompo was betrayed by the very man (Barreyro) whom he had raised to power. The Comuneros, having no longer a head to guide them nor a fixed programme to follow, dwindled down to a faction which made the anarchy of Paraguay disgraceful and intolerable. It is needless to say that the vice-roy of Buenos Ayres, aided by a Jesuit army of 6,000 well trained Guaranis soon restored the absolute power of Spain, and Paraguayan Democracy was apparently crushed out forever.

Such is a very brief sketch of the argument of Sor. Estrada's work, to which he adds an Appendix, of the decline of Paraguay under the rule of Francia and Lopez, and an Apology for the present war. We are happy to learn that he intends following up this Essay by another on the History of Misiones and we look forward with pleasure to many works in this rich and untrodden field of literature, by the same author. Sor. Estrada is still in his premiére jeunesse and possesses such a fund of erudition, good sense, and taste, that we would fain predict for him an eminent place among Argentine writers, and feel happy in congratulating the youth of Buenos Aires on so brilliant and worthy an ornament.

SITUATION OF THE BELLIGERENTS

The enemy still continues on the offensive, and is marched southwards: little movements of any importance have taken place with the allies. A few days more will bring us striking changes in their positions, but up to latest advices, the belligerent forces were stationed as follows:

General Mitre with the grand allied army at Concordia.

General Flores with the vanguard crossing the Timboy.

General Paunero crossing the river Corrientes to unite with Flores.

General Madariaga in observation near Paso de los Libres.

General Canavarro, with 6,000 Brazilians besieging Uruguayana.

General Caldwell moving to support Canavarro.

Baron Jacuy gone north of the Ibicuy, to flank the enemy.

General Netto getting up his corps of Rio Grande volunteers.

General Goyo Suarez with 1,200 cavalry going to reinforce Flores.

General Urquiza with 1,000 Entre-Rian infantry at Conception.

General Caceres with Correntino cavalry near Goya.

General Hornos, somewhere, observing the advance of Robles.

The Brazilian fleet of 15 gunboats, last seen at Bella Vista.

The 2nd naval division of 5 war-steamers [Brazilian] at Concordia.

THE ENEMY.

Garrison of Corrientes, under Berjes, 30,000 men, with outposts at San Cosme.

Reserve at Paso la Patria, near Tres Bocas, 10,000 with 230 waggons.

Army of Robles, at Goya, from 20 to 3,000.

Army of Barrios, at Tranquera de Loreto, 10,000 men.

Army of Bosco 6000, close to Uruguayana.

Division of Duarte, 5,000, Paso de los Libres.

The Paraguayan fleet, 8 or 10 steamers at Corrientes.

The battery at Riachuelo mounts it is said 60 guns.

The battery at Merced point, 52 guns

There are 3 smaller batteries, including the Peguajo 34 guns.

The flotilla of canoes on the Uruguay is escorted by a small steamer.

A force said to have reached Curuzú Cuatiá is probably imaginary.

Small divisions are scattered over Matto Grosso, Goyaz, and Minas Geraes.

The reserve at Humaytá is calculated at 10,000, under Lopez himself.

BUENOS AYRES AND ARGENTINE GLEAMINGS,

With extracts from a Diary of Salado Exploration in 1862 and 1863. By Thomas J. Hutchinson, F.R.G.S., F.R.O.L., F.E.S., &c., &c., Her Majesty's Consul for Rosario, and author of Narrative of Niger Tshadda, and Binuë Exploration, Impressions of Western Africa, Ten years' Wandering amongst the Ethiopians. London: Edward Stanford, 6, Charing-cross, 1865.

The writer of this volume is no stranger to the British public, having already published several works of considerable merit, and it is, therefore almost unnecessary to say that his style is light and agreeable, while the matter exhibits much thoughtfulness and remarkable powers of observation and description. His book will be read with great interest by all desirous of obtaining information not only respecting the geographical and physical characteristics of the immense regions of the River Plate, but also about the architectural aspects of most of those quaint and time-honoured religious and civil edifices which survive the glory of the Spanish domination, the social condition of the various populations, their habits, their virtues, and their vices, and the occupations and industries which foster and create the commerce of the country—a commerce every year rapidly increasing in dimensions, and augmenting in value and importance to Europe and the world. Mr. Hutchinson has been especially careful, too, in the collection of statistics, and other important details on such subjects as immigration, sheep-farming, and cotton cultivation, on which points we will, in the course of our review, take the liberty of quoting a portion of his remarks. Meantime, however, we will enjoy the reader's privilege, and stand in with the author for Buenos Ayres on board the good ship Santiago, after an unusually short run from Liverpool of forty-four days. We have entered the magnificent embouchure of the La Plata; "worthy of a river which is known to flow, from its source of the Paraguay in the southern part of the Brazilian province of Goyaz, through a course of two thousand one hundred and fifty miles;" and after some time have Monte Video in sight, with its cathedral towers and Moorish architecture of flat-rooted houses. The ship touches at this picturesque city, and we avail of the opportunity to visit some of the more notable buildings. Amongst these the cathedral holds a pre-eminent place, and is really attractive and beautiful. "Here I can view," writes our author, "all the fashion and elegance of the beau monde. To an Englishman the sight presented at mass-time is very curious. The men stand in the aisles, while the nave of the church is carpeted, and appropriated exclusively to the use of the fair sex, who sit or kneel upon the floor. A few have small carpets or rugs of a showy pattern, which are carried to the chapel by their peons, whilst the infirm are furnished with chairs that are likewise brought by their servants. The bright-coloured dresses of the ladies seated on the ground, the absence of bonnets, the graceful flow of mantillas, and the perpetual fluttering of brilliant fans, present altogether a striking picture; but I saw nothing here, or at any other place of worship which I afterwards visited in the River Plate and Paraná, in the slightest degree corroborating Mr. Tilley's assertion that the ladies come to church for the purposes of flirtation." So much for the cathedral of the capital of Uruguay; and we regret that we cannot pause to even glance at other objects, in themselves equally deserving of notice, and to which Mr. Hutchinson particularly refers. Monte Video, we may say, however, is well lighted with gas, possesses a Protestant church in connection with the British consulate, and boasts of one of the best hospitals in South America. Its commerce is very considerable and has rapidly increased of late. The exports are similar to those of the Argentine Republic on the opposite side of the La Plata.

There was a marked downward tendency in the specie market to-day. Patacons opened flat and closed flatter, owing to the anticipated arrival of specie from Montevideo. Gold is very abundant, and Exchange is looking upward. Some of the best bills were done to-day at 49½, and there is every appearance of the closing rate being still higher. In fact, there is no doubt whatever that the ordinary drawing for purchases of produce will be earlier this year than last, owing to the prevailing impression that the Riestra loan will be drawn for and not imported. The severe gale on Sunday hindered us from hearing anything from Montevideo. The steamer Herschell has not come up she will probably be in in the morning.

On 'Change it was said that the steamer Era had passed the Falls and was in the upper Uruguay. Great anxiety is apparent to hear the news from the seat of war as the brokers are of opinion Genl. Flores has fought a battle.

We hear to-day of some large sales of wool in deposit, but the price is reserved.

BRITISH VOLUNTEER BRIGADE.

BOUNTY $5,000.

PROBABLE LAND-GRANTS.

Englishmen, Americans and Sons of Foreigners wanted!

CAPT. DAVIS is now forming his brigade at the Restaudores barrack, calle Defensa and Mexico, with special commission from the Argentine Government, to enrol Englishmen, Irishmen, Scotchmen, Americans and Sons of Foreigners for the present campaign against Paraguay.

The bounty is $5,000 with same pay and rations as the Italian Legion, found in uniform, arms and accoutrements. Any man bringing in 25 men will receive an officer's commission in the Brigade, or any 25 men enrolling together may elect their own officer.

The Brigade will be entirely commanded by English officers, and offer a splendid opportunity to our countrymen who may be anxious to take part in the present war and who dislike serving in forces where English is not understood, and the habits of the troops are so different from ours.

Although the commander cannot promise the men anything more than the above bounty and pay, he has great pleasure in stating that a project is about to be laid before the Provincial Legislature for land-grants of several hundred acres to each foreigner bearing arms in the present war. In case such law be passed the election of sites for land will be given in order of priority to those who have first enrolled, and such land-warrants will be disposable even for the benefit of heirs or relativfs.

Parties wishing to enlist can see Capt. Davis at the above barracks, on all week-days, between the hours of 12 and 2.

Capital subscribed during the first ten months of existence, 1,100,000 hard dollars.

Number of Policies, 820.

Bonds purchased, 88,000 hard dollars.

The Bienhechora offers three various modes of Insurance to its subscribers: 1st, with the loss of capital by the death of the Insured party; 2nd, without loss of capital in said event; 3rd, with mere compound interest.

In the first form the Insured party has a right to:

1. To compound interest on the bonds purchased by the capitals received by the Company.
2. To a propertionate share of the capitals and interest of those who die in their respective sections.
3. To a proportionate share of the Capitals and Interests of forfeited subscriptions.
4. To a proportion of gains resulting from increased value of the National Bonds acquired by the inversion of funds.

In the second form the Insured claims

1. Compound Interest on the National Bonds purchased by the Association,
2. A proportionate share of the Interest due on the Capitals of those who die in the respective sections, which capitals are returned to the subscribers
3. A proportion of the interest due on forfeited shares.
4. A proportionate share of the profits arising from the increased value of the National Bonds, acquired by inversion of funds.

Finally, in the third form, gives a right to the corresponding interest produced by the Bonds purchased with their subscriptions, and the successive reinvestment of such interest, effected quarterly, when the coupons are paid up by the public treasury.

So marvellous are the benefits arising from the employment of Capitals in Public Funds, assisted by the combinations effected by "La Bienhechora," based upon the Mortality Tables of Deparcieux, and the interest produced by the 6 per cent. Consolidated Bonds, that taking for a model, the result given by other companies established precisely in the same form and basis, but with an accumulative interest much inferior to that gained by the "Bienhechora," that it is enabled to present as positive the following tables showing the gradual progression of capitals for a subscription of:

SAVINGS BANK.

BANK MAUA AND CO.

No. 103 Calle de Cangallo,
BUENOS AYRES.

The immense advantages of Accounts Current are now so generally felt and appreciated in the two great emporiums of the River Plate, Montevideo and Buenos Ayres, that there are very few Merchants who fail to keep one at the bank in which they place the most confidence.

The Bank of Mauá and Co. in Montevideo has already provided for the working classes in that city a safe and profitable depositary for their savings.

The sums deposited in that most important institution are daily increasing, and already reach a very large amount.

These advantages have not hitherto been enjoyed in this city by an immense number of clerks, artizans, working men, and servants of all classes and conditions, who are equally interested in putting their savings out at interest, thus providing themselves with a reserve fund in case of need, sickness, or old age, instead of spending them in the immoral gambling, in lotteries, and other frivolities.

The Bank of Mauá and Co. of this city, following the noble example of their firm in Montevideo, now offer the same facilities in this city, and will open a Savings Bank at No. 103 Calle Cangallo, from Nine a.m till Three p.m on Week Days, and on Sundays and Holidays from Ten a.m. to Twelve m., for the reception of the savings of the classes already mentioned.

The Bank will deliver to each depositor a pass book, in which will be entered the amount deposited and withdrawn.

The depositor is permitted at any time to withdraw the whole or part of the sum deposited; in the former case the interest will be calculated up to date.

The Bank of Mauá and Co. is sufficiently known to the Public by the benefit derived from the course of its operations, which are regulated on the strictest and soundest principles, and always directed to promote the general welfare

The bank of Mauá and Co. are also persuaded that this new branch of their business will render immense service to the working classes of Buenos Ayres and its neighbourhood.

Buenos Ayres, September 19, 1865.
